LEGISLATIVE REPORT — Nancy Carr-Gordon

The California Legislature is back in session, following the holidays. We are in the second year of the two-year bill cycle, with the month of January being typically busier at this time. New bills must be proposed by February 19, with hearings to follow in March.

The Governor's budget was presented on January 10th in accordance with state bylaws. The identified $25 million budget shortfall is addressed by spreading the deficit over multiple years and $8 billion in cuts to specified funds and project funding. After April 15th, the May budget revision is issued. Our RPEA lobbyists are not anticipating any drastic cuts. Most importantly, retiree health and the state CalPERS contribution remain wholly funded. We are continually monitoring those issues and proposed bills potentially impacting our members and will report back.

VOTE. VOTE. VOTE.
VOTE. VOTE. VOTE.

What 2024's leap year status means

Aliza Chasan -- CBS News January 2024

A new year is upon us, and it comes complete with an extra day. Unlike most years, which have 365 days, 2024 is a leap year, which means it has 366 days. Here's what you should know about the change to your calendar:

When is the next leap year?

Leap years happen approximately every four years. This year's leap day will be on Thursday, Feb. 29, 2024. After that, expect leap years in 2028, 2032 and 2036. Leap days will fall on Tuesday, Feb. 29, 2028; Sunday, Feb. 29, 2032, and Friday, Feb. 29, 2036.

Why do we need leap years?

While we follow the 365-day Gregorian calendar, it actually takes the Earth a bit more than a year to orbit around the sun. Without the extra day in leap years, calendars and seasons would gradually fall out of sync. That, in turn, impacts planting and harvesting. A year based on Earth's orbit around the sun is equal to 365 days, 5 hours, 48 minutes and 46 seconds, or 365.2422 days, according to NASA. Most years, the calendar is rounded down to 365 days, but those nearly six extra hours don't disappear.

To account for the difference those hours make, an extra day is tacked onto February every leap year, giving the month 29 days instead of 28 approximately every four years. While it's a small difference, those hours would add up over time if not for the existence of leap years. "For example, say that July is a warm, summer month where you live. If we never had leap years, all those missing hours would add up into days, weeks and even months," according to NASA. "Eventually, in a few hundred years, July would actually take place in the cold winter months!"

The math of leap years

While leap years normally come every four years, that's not always the case. In 1582, Pope Gregory XIII reformed the calendar by specifying that all years divisible by 4 are to be leap years, with the exception of century years, which must be divisible by 400 to be considered leap years.

There's a bit of math in figuring out when leap years fall under the Gregorian calendar: The year must be divisible by four. If the year can also be evenly divided by 100, then it's not a leap year unless the year is also divisible by 400. It's why the year 2000 was a leap year, but 2100, 2200 and 2300 will not be leap years.

Just thought you needed to know.

A Little Introduction to the History of Surf City-Santa Cruz RPEA Chapter 009

Our Chapter 009 Historian, Alverda Orlando, has been compiling the history of our chapter. The State organization has been operating for over 65 years. Our chapter has been in existence for almost that long. Here is Alverda's first installment.

In February 1954, the Retired Government Association was formed. This organization would be later known as the Retired Public Employees' Association of California. Fred Lockner was the principal organizer. He started in 1957 with 18 members. In 1958 Chapter 009 received its charter becoming the 9th chapter in the newly formed statewide Retired Public Employees' Association.

Chapter 009's first meeting place was the City of Santa Cruz Council Chambers. Soon the membership grew to 43 members. The meetings were held at Heckley Hall until 1966, and then moved to Harvey West Clubhouse. By 1971 the membership had grown to 213 retirees. The membership growth was probably due to enjoyable meetings with potlucks, dinners, breakfasts, and of course raffles. 276 people attended the summer BBQ in 1973. All Bar-B-Ques took place at Harvey West Park.

In the beginning, lunch meetings were once a month at no charge. Members were asked to bring a can of soup (no cream or fish) which were mixed together in one big bubbly pot and served with good bread. Desserts were homemade cakes and pies – usually donated by the wives of board members.

Meetings kept the board busy throughout the year. Besides monthly meetings, the board members went to training workshops in San Jose, Santa Clara, and other towns. These were given by the State organization. Also, there was General Assembly biannually. Reports were brought back to the Chapter 009 membership. Communication at that time was by phone tree. To be continued...

Ready or not, election season is upon us

March 5th is the date for the Presidential Primary Election this cycle. Here is some information gathered from the County of Santa Cruz Elections Office, The Santa Cruz Sentinel, and the online publication Outlook Santa Cruz. Please call the County Elections Office if you have any questions at 831-454-2060

On your ballot will be candidates for US President; US Senate; US House; the CA State Senate and the State Assembly.

There will also be county and city office candidates and ballot measures. County elections officials will send all registered voters a mail-in ballot starting Feb. 5, 2024. Your ballot will have the candidates and measures for your district based on your address.

California's open primary system allows registered voters to participate in primary elections, regardless of their political party affiliation. In a traditional closed primary, only voters registered with a specific political party can participate in that party's primary election. The presidential primary is a closed primary and which candidates appear on your ballot depends on your party registration. All other offices are in an open primary system, and all voters, regardless of party registration, receive the same primary ballot.

Here's how the open primary typically function in California:

Voter Registration: To participate in any primary election, a voter must be registered to vote. California allows online voter registration, making it easier for eligible citizens to sign up.

Ballot Distribution: Before a primary election, all registered voters in California would receive a single primary ballot containing all the candidates from all political parties running for various offices, such as governor, senator, or other state and local positions.

Vote Casting: Voters could select candidates of their choice from any party listed on the ballot. This means a voter could vote for a Republican candidate for one office and a Democratic candidate for another office, all on the same ballot.

Top-Two Primary System: California also adopted a top-two primary system. In this system, regardless of party affiliation, all candidates compete in the same primary election. The two candidates who receive the most votes in the primary, regardless of party affiliation, advance to the general election. This could lead to a scenario where two candidates from the same party end up competing against each other in the general election. (Note: The Top Two Candidates Open Primary Act does not apply to candidates running for U.S. President, county central committees, or local offices.)

General Election: The two candidates who received the most votes in the primary, irrespective of their political party, would face off in the general election. Voters, once again, have the opportunity to vote for either candidate, regardless of their own party affiliation.

The open primary system aimed to encourage broader participation and reduce polarization, as voters were not confined to voting within their registered party. It provided more choices and allowed candidates to appeal to a wider electorate, not just their party's base.

You can return your ballot by mail postmarked by election day (3/5/2024) and received by 3/12/2024. You can return your ballot to any polling place, county vote center, ballot drop box or county elections office. See list and open dates at end of article.

Besides the Presidential Primary Candidates, other offices that will be voted on in the March election:

FEDERAL

U.S. Representative in Congress, 18th District

Zoe Lofgren, Democratic Party, incumbent and chair of the California Democratic Congressional Delegation.

Peter Hernandez, Republican Party, former San Benito County supervisor.

U.S. Representative in Congress, 19th District

Jimmy Panetta, Democratic Party, incumbent.

Sean Dougherty, Green Party.

STATE

State Senate, 17th District

John Laird, Democratic Party, incumbent, chair of Senate Budget Subcommittee #1 (education).

Michael Oxford, self-described tradesman and coach who does not list a party affiliation on his campaign site.

State Assembly, 28th District

Gail Pellerin, Democratic Party, incumbent, chair of the Assembly Elections Committee and former Santa Cruz County clerk.

Liz Lawler, Republican Party, former Monte Sereno city councilmember.

State Assembly, 29th District

Robert Rivas, Democratic Party, incumbent, speaker of the California State Assembly.

State Assembly, 30th District

Dawn Addis, Democratic Party, incumbent, chair of the California Legislative Central Coast Caucus.

COUNTY SUPERVISORS

The March 5 primary will give local voters an opportunity to reshape the county's Board of Supervisors, with three seats up for grabs, and only one incumbent running.

The departures of longtime District 5 Supervisor Bruce McPherson, who is retiring, and three-term District 2 Supervisor Zach Friend, whose wife is city manager of Coronado in San Diego County, could result in three new members, including women, to join two supervisors, Justin Cummings and Felipe Hernandez, who were first elected in November 2022.

OTHER MEASURES

The most debated initiative on the primary ballot is Measure M in the city of Santa Cruz, which would limit the height of high-rise buildings without approval by city voters. For official information see <https://votescount.santacruzcountyca.gov/Home/Elections/March5,2024PresidentialPrimaryElection/LocalMeasures/MeasureM.aspx>

Then there are the tax measures:

- A half-cent increase in the sales tax in the city of Santa Cruz, which would go to 9.75%.
- An increase in the sales tax in the unincorporated areas of the county, from 9% to 9.5%.
- In the Pajaro Valley Health Care District, voters will be asked to fund a $116 million general obligation bond that would pay for improvement projects at Watsonville Community Hospital.

Ladybugs Overwintering — Sue Pierce

What do ladybugs do when the weather turns cold? They find a place usually found on low-growing vegetation in moist locations such as rotting logs, under rocks, fallen leaves, or inside houses to overwinter. Overwintering is a form of mild hibernation during which the ladybugs huddle together in clusters called aggregations, moving slowly and rarely eating as they wait for warmer weather to breed and continue their life cycle. Redwood forests provide an ideal location.

I have found large clusters of ladybugs overwintering on logs, in stumps of trees, and plants in the forest around my home. This is the first time I have seen them overwintering in the planter pots and on the plants. During the short time the sun warms the pots and plants, I see the ladybugs slowly move around. I haven't seen them fly though that doesn't mean some have.
